Hello, I'm Maximus, I'm a full-stack developer and designer.

Since 2014, I have been a professional in both legal practice and IT, with 10 years of experience in law and 2 years in full-stack development.

My unique ability to integrate legal expertise with technical skills enables me to effectively address challenges related to the legal aspects of IT projects, data security, and regulatory compliance.

My website serves several purposes:

Showcase of professional skills — presenting my experience in law and IT development.

Portfolio of IT projects — showcasing examples of web applications and solutions I have developed.

Discussion of legal and IT solutions — publishing articles about the legal aspects of technology.

Contact information — providing an easy way for clients and employers to get in touch.

Sharing experiments and research — a platform to share the results of my IT experiments.

Resume and career — a section to display career achievements and professional growth.

Personal branding — building an online presence to attract new clients and career opportunities.
